

KEYNOTE SPEAKER · AI AGENTS · AI4 2026

I hired 150 AI agents to run my life.

Then I fired 74 of them. Your audience leaves knowing exactly which three to hire first, and what to do the day one goes rogue.

ABOUT TRISTEN

Tristen O'Brien is not a commentator. He is the case study. A career technology leader who writes Python, he built a working staff of 150 AI agents to run his company and his personal life: inbox, money, outreach, research, home. He kept 76, fired 74, and shows rooms the real org chart, including what broke.

In August 2026 he took that story to the stage at Ai4 in Las Vegas, the largest applied AI conference in the world. His channel, AI Made Easy, reached 73,000 subscribers and 2.9 million views in five months by explaining AI in plain English. Author of The Smartest Move. Purdue doctoral researcher in Technology Leadership and Innovation.

EVERY AUDIENCE LEAVES WITH

- Which parts of work and life can actually be handed off, and which cannot
- The three ways agents fail, and how to catch each one early
- The Trust Ladder: Intern, Employee, Manager. Autonomy is a promotion, not a setting
- Their first three hires, named, in order
